

Bookshops

It is essential that you buy textbooks to supplement the study materials we give you.

Advice on which books to buy and how many is usually given in each subject guide, but on average you will need two or three per subject.

On the following pages we give details of bookshops that University of London students have found useful. This information was correct at the time of publication. Those marked  enable you to place orders online, while those with a ● symbol have mail order facilities. You are advised to contact the bookshops directly to check whether they stock books in your subject area.

If you find a bookshop which is not on this list but has given you a good service, please send us the details (see our contact details in the Student guide) and we will contact them to ask if we can list them here next year.

A note for undergraduate laws students

Some publishers provide University of London laws students the opportunity to purchase textbooks at a discount. Full information and links to their sites are available to registered students on the VLE (Study Support > How to guides > Purchase textbooks and learning materials). We therefore suggest that undergraduate laws students complete the registration process before purchasing textbooks. Publishers offering such discounts include:

- Oxford University Press

Online bookshops
