Important information regarding the Programme Regulations

About this document

Last updated: 22 January 2021

As a student registered with the University of London you are governed by the current General Regulations and Programme Regulations associated with your programme of study.

These Programme Regulations are designed and developed by the member institutions which are responsible for the academic direction of the programmes. The regulations may take account of any associated arrangements at the relevant member institutions. Programme Regulations, together with the Programme Handbook, will provide the detailed rules and guidance for your programme of study.

In addition to Programme Regulations you will have to abide by the General Regulations. These regulations apply to all students registered for a programme of study with the University of London and provide the rules governing registration and assessment on all programmes; they also indicate what you may expect on completion of your programme of study and how you may pursue a complaint, should that be necessary. Programme Regulations should be read in conjunction with the General Regulations.

The relevant General Regulations and the Programme Regulations relating to your registration with us are for the current year and not in the year in which you initially registered.

On all matters where the regulations are to be interpreted, or are silent, our decision will be final.

Further information about your programme of study is outlined in the Programme Specification which is available on the student portal. The Programme Specification gives a broad overview of the structure and content of the programme as well as the learning outcomes students will achieve as they progress.

Terminology

For the Combined Degree Scheme you should note the following terminology:

Module/Course: Individual units of the programme are called either modules or courses. Each module or course is a self-contained, formally structured learning experience with a coherent and explicit set of learning outcomes and assessment criteria.

Stage: The degree (BA) programme consists of 3 Stages, each containing four modules or courses. Stage 1 is made up of FHEQ Level 4 and, for Divinity only, some FHEQ Level 5 modules or courses. Stage 2 is made up of FHEQ Level 5 and, for Divinity only, some FHEQ Level 6 modules or courses, depending on the programme of study, modules or courses selected. Stage 3 is made up of FHEQ Level 6 and, for Divinity only, some FHEQ Level 5 modules or courses.

The Diploma of Higher Education (DipHE) consists of Stage 1 and Stage 2 modules or courses only.

The Certificate of Higher Education (CertHE) consists solely of Stage 1 modules or courses.

Throughout the Regulations, ‘we’ ‘us’ and ‘our’ mean the University of London; ‘you’ and ‘your’ mean the student, or where applicable, all students.
Combined Degree Scheme (CDS) notice of closure (2018)
The University of London no longer accepts applications for any programmes offered through the Combined Degree Scheme:

- BA, DipHE and CertHE English with Computing, Philosophy or Divinity
- BA, DipHE and CertHE Philosophy with Computing, English or Divinity
- BA, DipHE and CertHE Divinity with Computing, English or Philosophy

This means that the programmes offered through the Combined Degree Scheme will be withdrawn over the next five years, in accordance with the General Regulations (page 3). No new registrations or transfers to this programme are being accepted.

Current students may transfer their registration from the Certificate of Higher Education to the related Diploma of Higher Education or Degree (subject to meeting the entrance qualifications or the requirements of the award) or from the Diploma of Higher Education to the related Degree, within the Combined Degree Scheme structure.

Transfers to the parent programmes (English, Computing programmes, Philosophy and Divinity programmes) will be considered (subject to meeting the entrance qualifications or the requirements of the parent award).

You are asked to note that the last examinations for this programme will take place in 2023.

Changes to Combined Degree Scheme (CDS) Regulations 2020-2021

English
Notice is served on EN1022 - Introduction to Creative Writing. It will be examined in 2020, with resit examinations offered in 2021 and, for the final time, in 2022. It has been replaced by EN1022 – 03 Introduction to Creative and Life Writing.

Divinity

Changes to programme titles
Awards have been renamed from ‘Theology’ to ‘Divinity’, with immediate effect. Students studying at all three levels – degree, diploma and certificate – will receive an award in ‘Divinity’ rather than ‘Theology’.

Continuing students taking the DipHE and CertHE have the option of keeping ‘Theology’ in the title of their programme. Please contact us via the ‘Ask a question’ link in your Student Portal if you prefer to continue under the original programme name.

If we do not hear from you, on successful completion you will receive one of the following awards:

- BA degrees, Diploma of Higher Education or Certificate of Higher Education in:
  - English with Divinity
Programme Regulations 2020–2021 Combined Degree Scheme
(BA/DipHE/CertHE)

- Philosophy with Divinity
- Divinity with Computing
- Divinity with English
- Divinity with Philosophy

Changes to modules
1. The titles of the following modules have been changed and the study materials (available on the VLE) are undergoing substantial revision:
   - Foundations in Biblical Hebrew [DT2002] (Level 5) has been replaced by Biblical Hebrew: Language and texts [DT2002-03] (Level 5).
   - Church history: Reformation and society c.1450–c.1600 [DT2001] (Level 5) has been replaced by History of Christianity [DT2001-03] (Level 5).
   - Christian ethics [DT2007] (Level 5) has been replaced by Religion and ethics [DT2007-03] (Level 5).

   If you have previously attempted these modules, you may resit the previous versions of the modules for the last time in 2020–2021. If you attempted and passed these modules in 2019–2020 or earlier you will retain the old module titles in your records.

2. Buddhism [DT3009] (Level 6) is undergoing substantial revision and from 2020–2021 will be designated a Level 5 module: Buddhism [DT2009-02].

   If you have previously attempted this module at Level 6, you may resit the module at this level for the last time in 2020–2021. If you attempted and passed this module in 2019–2020 or earlier you will retain the module at Level 6. Students who register on this module from 2020–2021 onwards will take the Level 5 version of the module.

3. Sacrifice, praise and wisdom [DT2014] (Level 5) has been substantially revised.

New modules
4. The following modules are being offered for the first time in 2020-21:
   - History of Christianity [DT2001-03] (Level 5)
   - Religion and ethics [DT2007-03] (Level 5)
   - New Testament theology: Texts in English [DT3050-02] (Level 6)
   - Interfaith relations [DT3055-02] (Level 6)
   - Religion and violence [DT3060-02] (Level 6)

Exclusions are modules that cannot be taken together. Exclusions may apply to some of these modules. Where this is the case, they are listed in Appendix D.

Assessment changes
All new modules listed above will be assessed by a combination of coursework and a written examination, weighted in the ratio 40:60 respectively.
5. A new penalty for exceeding the word limit for the coursework elements and the Dissertation has been introduced.

If you exceed the word limit, we will reduce the mark you receive as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Excess number of words over the word limit</th>
<th>Penalty applied</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Up to and including 10%</td>
<td>5 marks deducted from original mark</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>More than 10% up to and including 20%</td>
<td>10 marks deducted from original mark</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>More than 20%</td>
<td>10 marks deducted from the original mark. The updated mark will be capped at a maximum of 40%.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

For coursework elements and the Dissertation, the word limit includes footnotes but not the bibliography.

6. Refer to Appendix C and the VLE for further details on programme structure and assessment.

A penalty will apply for the late submission of coursework for all modules. Two marks will be deducted per day for submissions made after the deadline, up to a maximum of 10 days. Submissions after this point will not be accepted.

Withdrawn modules

Notice has been served on the following modules:

- DT2001 - Church History: Reformation and society c1450 – c.1600 (Level 5)
- DT2007 - Christian ethics (Level 5)
- DT2015 - Divinity and atheism (Level 5)
- DT2010 - Religion and science (Level 5)
- DT3006 - Liturgical studies (Level 6)
- DT3015 - The theology of Christian-Jewish relations (Level 6)
- DT3016 - Christian-Muslim relations (Level 6)
- DT3009 - Buddhism (Level 6)
- DT3013 - The tasks of life: Pascal, Kafka, Weil and Levinas (Level 6)

New registrations on these modules will no longer be accepted. They are available for final resits only in 2020–2021. From 2020–2021 Church history: Reformation and society c.1450–c.1600 and Christian ethics will be replaced by the new modules; History of Christianity and Religion and ethics.

Structural changes

You now have the option to take Christian doctrine [DT2135] (Level 5) as an alternative to Introduction to Islam [DT1155] (Level 4) with your three compulsory Level 4 modules.
Please refer to Appendix C for your full programme structure.
Alternative Assessments during the Coronavirus (COVID-19) Outbreak

In line with our current General Regulations, the University may offer you alternative assessments where necessary. This includes holding online timed assessments in place of written examinations, which are usually held at examination centres. Please note that this statement replaces any published information relating to assessments or written examinations in any of our materials, including the website. Previously published materials relating to examinations should therefore be read in conjunction with this statement.

The University of London continues to work towards supporting the academic progression of all its students. The University also continues to be mindful of the health and wellbeing of its students during this pandemic, whilst protecting the academic standards of its awards.
1 Structure of the programmes

Qualifications

1.1

The following named qualifications are awarded under the Combined Degree Scheme:

BA degrees, Diploma of Higher Education or Certificate of Higher Education in:

- English with Computing*
- English with Philosophy
- English with Divinity
- Philosophy with Computing*
- Philosophy with English
- Philosophy with Divinity
- Divinity with Computing*
- Divinity with English
- Divinity with Philosophy

*There are three subject-specific Computing pathways:

- Computer Science
- Computing & Cognition
- Computing Information Systems

Students who successfully complete one of the three subject pathways will have that pathway reflected in the title of the Combined Degree Scheme qualification.

See Appendix C for your particular CDS programme structure.

2 Registration

Effective date of registration

2.1

Your effective date of registration is 30 November in the year that you initially registered.

Period of registration

2.2

The maximum and minimum periods of registration, from your effective date of registration, are:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Minimum</th>
<th>Maximum</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>BA</td>
<td>Three years*</td>
<td>Eight years</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DipHE</td>
<td>Two years</td>
<td>Eight years</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CertHE</td>
<td>One year</td>
<td>Five years</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

*This period may vary if recognition of prior learning is permitted.

 This period subject to any notice period for closure of the programme.

Study materials are made available after registration and on payment of the applicable fee.
2.3
Due to the closure of this programme your registration on the programme will come to an end on 31st August 2023. You should take this into account when planning the remainder of your studies.

3 Recognition of prior learning and credit transfer

To be read in conjunction with the General Regulations, Section 3.

Recognition of prior learning

3.1
If you are a BA or DipHE student you may apply for recognition of prior learning up to a maximum number of modules or courses, depending on the qualification, as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Programme</th>
<th>RPL to a maximum of:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>CDS BA</td>
<td>4 modules or courses (120 credits)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CDS DipHE</td>
<td>2 modules or courses (60 credits)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

3.2
There is no recognition of prior learning for the CertHE.

3.3
Recognition of prior learning is at the discretion of the Programme Director, and their decision is final.

3.4
Each request for recognition of prior learning will be considered on its own merits.

4 Module or course selection

Appendix A provides details of the module and course titles.

BA

4.1
- You must choose one major programme and take modules or courses to the value of 90 credits at Stage 1, Stage 2 and Stage 3.
- You must choose one minor programme, not already selected as your major, and take modules or courses to the value of 30 credits at Stage 1, Stage 2 and Stage 3.

DipHE

4.2
- You must choose one major programme and take modules or courses to the value of 90 credits at Stage 1 and Stage 2.
- You must choose one minor programme, not already selected as your major, and take modules or courses to the value of 30 credits at Stage 1 and Stage 2.
CertHE

4.3
• You must choose one major programme and take modules or courses to the value of 90 credits at Stage 1.
• You must choose one minor programme, not already selected as your major, and take modules or courses to the value of 30 credits at Stage 1.

4.4
Some modules or courses (at Level 5 and above) have prerequisites. Prerequisite modules or courses must normally be passed in a previous examination.

4.5
You can apply to change your choice of module or course at any stage in your studies if:
• you have not yet made an attempt at the written examination for the module or course; and
• you are still within your period of registration and your registration has not ceased.

5 Assessment for the programme

See Appendix A for the assessment methods of each module or course

Dates for examinations

5.1
Written examinations take place in May and June each year.

See General Regulations Rules for taking written examinations. Further information about assessment methods and submission dates can be found in the Programme Handbook.

6 Number of attempts permitted at an examination

6.1
The maximum number of attempts permitted at any examination is three.

6.2
If you fail one or all parts of the assessment for a module or course, we will ask you to resit either the entire module or course or part of the module or course as applicable. If you do not attempt all the prescribed parts of the assessment for a module or course your attempt at any completed parts may not count and you may not receive a mark.

6.3
If you resit the coursework element of the assessment in a subsequent year you will be required to submit a new assignment in answer to that year’s question or assignment topic.

6.4
If you resit and pass a Computing course your mark may be subject to a resit penalty. The mark awarded for a course which you resit and pass will be the arithmetic mean of the mark achieved and the pass mark of 40%.
6.5
If your effective date of registration is 30 November 2016 or later, the mark awarded for an English course which you resit and pass will be subject to a resit penalty. The mark awarded will be the arithmetic mean of the mark achieved and the pass mark of 40%.

6.6
If you do not make a second or a third satisfactory attempt at a failed module or course, you may still be able to satisfy both the BA structure and the requirements for the award of the BA. In these circumstances the mark obtained on the last occasion the module or course was attempted will be carried forward and may be taken into account for classification purposes. If, however, you are not able to satisfy the requirements for any qualification listed under these regulations, your registration will cease.

7 Progression within the programme

7.1
In any one year, if you intend to enter for assessment, you must attempt assessment in a minimum of the equivalent of one half module or course (15 credits) and a maximum of the equivalent of four full modules or courses (120 credits), excluding resits.

7.2
If you are registered for a DipHE or BA we will permit you to progress from Stage 1 to Stage 2 if you have passed a minimum of three Level 4 modules or courses (90 credits), including any modules or courses designated as core, at Stage 1. We will not permit you to attempt more than two Level 5 modules or courses at Stage 2 until you have passed all Level 4 modules or courses at Stage 1. Any remaining Stage 1 modules or courses must be attempted in your first exam entry at Stage 2. The minor module or course at Stage 1 must be passed before you attempt the minor module or course at Stage 2.

7.3
If you are registered for a BA we will permit you to progress from Stage 2 to Stage 3 if you have successfully passed in a minimum of 90 credits in modules or courses at Stage 2 and all Level 4 modules or courses at Stage 1. This must include any modules or courses designated as core. Any remaining Stage 2 modules or courses must be attempted in your first exam entry at Stage 3. You will not be permitted to attempt the module or course from your minor programme at Stage 3 until you have passed the minor modules or courses at Stages 1 and 2.

Programme specific progression rules

7.4
If Divinity is your major programme of study you can attempt modules designated as Level 5 and Level 6 at Stages 2 and/or 3.

- If you are registered for the BA you must attempt a minimum of three Level 5 modules (60 credits), and a minimum of three Level 6 modules (90 credits), including the Stage 3 core module.
- If you are registered for the Diploma of Higher Education you must attempt three modules (90 credits) at Level 5 or 6.

If you wish to attempt a Level 6 module at Stage 2 you must have passed all Level 4 modules at Stage 1.
7.6
If Philosophy is your major programme of study, the written examination for Introduction to Philosophy must be taken in the year in which you first enter for an examination.

7.7
If English is your minor or major programme of study you must make a valid attempt at the Stage 1 compulsory formative assessments in order to pass the Stage 1 course(s). A valid attempt constitutes a score of 10% or more for each compulsory formative assessment.

7.8
Failure to submit formative assessment or to achieve a valid attempt within formative assessment will be referred to the examination board for consideration.

7.9
If you are following a Computing pathway as your minor programme of study you may only select courses specified within your chosen pathway.

7.10
You may not make an attempt at a dissertation (where it is applicable for your major programme of study) until you have completed all modules or courses for your major programme at Stages 1 and 2 (180 credits).

Transfer from the CDS CertHE or the DipHE

7.11
You may transfer your registration from the CertHE to the related DipHE or BA (subject to meeting the entrance qualifications or the requirements of the award) or from the DipHE to the related BA, within the Combined Degree Scheme structure.

7.12
If you successfully complete the CertHE or DipHE and decide to progress to the DipHE or BA, you will not receive the intermediate award(s).

7.13
If you have been awarded a CertHE or DipHE and later wish to continue your studies on the DipHE or BA, we will ask you to return your certificate or diploma to us.

Transfer between CDS programmes

7.14
You may transfer between CDS combinations subject to meeting the applicable entrance qualifications. Transfer between combinations can be requested at any time in your studies but will be at our discretion. You will only carry forward marks for completed modules or courses if the same modules or courses are part of the new CDS combination to which you have transferred. The progression rules between different Stages will apply.

7.15
If you are following a Computing pathway as your minor programme you may transfer between the pathways subject to meeting the applicable entrance qualifications. Transfer between Computing pathways can be requested at any time in your studies but will be at our discretion. You must attempt the courses specified within your chosen pathway and you may not receive credit for courses completed as part of another Computing pathway. The progression rules between different Stages will apply.
8 Schemes of award

8.1 You must achieve a mark of at least 40% to pass a module or course and have attempted all elements of assessment prescribed for the module or course (See 8.2 for further information in respect of computing courses). If you can be awarded a BA honours we will make the award and not permit a resit attempt of any failed module or course.

8.2 If you registered for a Computing course before 30 November 2014 the pass mark is 35% and will be scaled in order to comply with the classification schemes outlined within this section. If you registered for a Computing course from 30 November 2014, the pass mark is 40%.

CDS BA

8.3 All examinations are marked according to the following scale:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Mark range</th>
<th>Degree class equivalent</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>70 and over</td>
<td>First Class Honours</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>60 – 69</td>
<td>Second Class Honours (Upper Division)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>50 – 59</td>
<td>Second Class Honours (Lower Division)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>40 – 49</td>
<td>Third Class Honours</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>0 – 39</td>
<td>Fail</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

8.4 In order to be awarded an BA with honours, you are required to have:

a) Attempted the assessment for the equivalent of 12 full modules or courses (360 credits), with 9 modules or courses (270 credits) from your major programme and 3 modules or courses (90 credits) from your minor programme.

b) Passed in at least 11 full modules or courses (330 credits), including any modules or courses described as ‘core’. This will take account of any compensated fail. Core modules or courses cannot be compensated.

c) Gained a final average of 40% or above.

Compensated fail

8.5 If you fail a module or course (i.e. receive a mark of less than 40%), we will allow you to make two further attempts at the module or course.

If you receive a mark between 30% and 39% for a Philosophy or Divinity module or course that is not described as being ‘core’ to the programme and your mean average mark for the level is greater than 45%, then we may award you a ‘compensated fail’ for that module or course. This means that, although the course has not been passed, we will treat it as if it has for the purposes of awarding the BA.
If you receive a mark between 35% and 39% for an English or Computing course that is not described as being ‘core’ to the programme and your mean average mark for the level is greater than 45%, then we may award you a ‘compensated fail’ for that course. This means that, although the course has not been passed, we will treat it as if it has for the purposes of awarding the BA.

No more than 30 credits can be compensated across the whole BA.

8.6

The class of degree awarded will be based on an average of the marks obtained in all Level 5 and 6 modules or courses (240 credits), including the dissertation where applicable.

8.7

A Pass degree may exceptionally be awarded at our discretion if you fail to meet the criteria for an BA with honours but have:

   a) attempted 12 full modules or courses;
   b) passed in at least 10 full modules or courses (300 credits);
   c) no more than 30 credits as a compensated fail;
   d) passed all core modules or courses for the BA with honours programme.

DipHE and CertHE

8.8

In order to obtain a DipHE, you must be assessed in and have:

   a) passed 8 modules or courses (240 credits) at Levels 4 and 5, and 6 where applicable, with 6 modules or courses (180 credits) from your major programme and 2 modules or courses (60 credits) from your minor programme;
   b) passed all core modules or courses for your programme.

8.9

The award of a DipHE will be based on an average of the marks obtained in 8 modules or courses (240 credits) across Levels 4 and 5, and 6 where applicable.

In order to obtain a CertHE, you must be assessed in and have:

   a) passed 4 modules or courses (120 credits) at Stage 1, with 3 modules or courses (90 credits) from your major programme and 1 module or course (30 credits) from your minor programme;
   b) passed all core modules or courses for your programme.

8.11

The award of CertHE will be based on an average of the marks obtained in 4 modules or courses (120 credits) at Level 4.

8.12

No compensation is allowed for the DipHE or the CertHE.
8.13
A DipHE and CertHE will be awarded as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Mark range</th>
<th>Classification</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>70 and above</td>
<td>Pass with Merit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>50–69</td>
<td>Pass with Credit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>40 and over</td>
<td>Pass</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>0–39</td>
<td>Fail</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

See Appendix B for information on what is required to achieve a particular range of marks.

Exit qualifications

8.14
A CertHE or a DipHE may be awarded if for academic or personal reasons you are unable to meet the criteria for BA degree qualification.

8.15
A CertHE may be awarded if you have:
   a) passed in at least 4 modules or courses (120 credits) at Level 4 or above;
   b) passed all core modules or courses at Level 4.

8.16
A DipHE may be awarded if you have:
   a) passed in at least 8 modules or courses (240 credits) at Level 4 or above;
   b) passed all core modules or courses at Levels 4 and 5.

8.17
Exit qualifications are granted at the discretion of the Board of Examiners and once a student has accepted an exit qualification they will not be permitted to continue their studies under these regulations with the University of London.
Appendix A – Syllabus

Computing

Creative computing I: image, sound and motion [CO1112] 30 credits
The Bauhaus; History of mathematics and computing in creativity; Multimedia; Point, Line, Plane; Trigonometry 1; Animation 1; Bits and Pixels; Motion 2; Perspective, Projections and Affine Transformations; Open GL; Genetic programming; Simulation; Filters and Special Effects.

Assessment: One three-hour unseen written examination and coursework.
Structure: Available as a Stage 1 Minor course (Computing & Cognition pathway)
Course level: FHEQ level 4

Mathematics for computing [CO1102] 30 credits
Number systems; sets and subsets; set algebra; symbolic logic and logic gates; sequences; summations; elementary counting principles; probability; relations and functions; matrix algebra; systems of linear equations; introduction to the theory of graphs and digraphs.

Assessment: One three-hour unseen written examination.
Structure: Available as a Stage 1 Minor course (Computer Science pathway)
Course level: FHEQ level 4

Information systems: foundations of e-business [CO1108] 30 credits
The challenge of applying IT successfully; basic concepts for understanding systems commerce; business processes; information and databases; communication, decision making, and different types of information systems; product, customer and competitive advantage; human and ethical issues; computer hardware; software, programming and artificial intelligence; networks and telecommunications; information systems planning; building and maintaining information systems; information system security and control; the future of information systems; customer relationship management.

Assessment: One three-hour unseen written examination and coursework.
Structure: Available as a Stage 1 Minor course (Computing Information Systems pathway)
Course level: FHEQ level 4

Creative computing II: interactive multimedia [CO2227] 30 credits
Signals and systems; perception; audio and image signal processing (including convolution, filters, the Fast Fourier Transform); image techniques (such as texture mapping, transparency, Blending); advanced computer graphics for scene description and rendering; animation (techniques and concepts); user interface issues (such as advanced mouse control, keyboard control, text input/text output); creative development; visual literacy; multimedia manipulation; action scripting.

Assessment: One three-hour unseen written examination and coursework.
Structure: Available as a Stage 2 Minor course (Computing & Cognition pathway)
Course level: FHEQ level 5
Programme Regulations 2020–2021 Combined Degree Scheme
(BA/DipHE/CertHE)

Software engineering, algorithm design and analysis [CO2226] 30 credits
This course provides an introduction to software engineering, algorithm design and analysis. The main topics include: Software design in UML: use cases, class modelling, objects and links, aggregations and dependencies, activity diagrams, state-charts; Principles of good software design, software development lifecycle, the role of design and modelling in software development; Software verification and validation; Project management and planning; Case studies and software horror stories. Abstract data types, design patterns, algorithmic issues, complexity theory, the application and implementation of common data structures in Java.

Assessment: One three-hour unseen written examination and coursework.
Structure: Available as a Stage 2 Minor course (Computer Science pathway)
Course level: FHEQ level 5

Database systems [CO2209] 30 credits
Introduction to Database Systems (motivation for database systems, storage systems, architecture, facilities, applications). Database modelling (basic concepts, E-R modelling, Schema deviation). The relational model and algebra, SQL (definitions, manipulations, access centre, embedding). Physical design (estimation of workload and access time, logical I/Os, distribution). Modern database systems (extended relational, object-oriented). Advanced database systems (active, deductive, parallel, distributed, federated). DB functionality and services (files, structures and access methods, transactions and concurrency control, reliability, query processing).

Assessment: One three-hour unseen written examination and coursework.
Structure: Available as a Stage 2 Minor course (Computing Information Systems pathway)
Course level: FHEQ level 5

Artificial intelligence [CO3310] 15 credits
Knowledge representation, propositional and predicate calculus; problem solving: state-space search; breadth-first and depth-first search; planning; natural language; expert systems; philosophy of AI;

Assessment: One 2 ¼-hour unseen written examination and coursework.
Structure: Available as a Stage 3 Minor course (Computing & Cognition, and, Computer Science pathways)
Course level: FHEQ level 6

Neural networks [CO3311] 15 credits
The artificial neuron; network architecture; perceptrons. Single layer networks; supervised training in batch and individual mode. Multilayer feedforward networks; backpropagation; momentum. Counterpropagation networks; unsupervised training; initialisation of weights. Statistical methods; Boltzmann training. Feedback networks; Hopfield nets; energy; training. Applications.

Additional software requirements: recommended that some neural nets software is obtained (e.g. MATLAB).

Assessment: One 2 ¼-hour unseen written examination and coursework.

Information systems management [CO3318] 15 credits
An introduction to the various facets of Information System Management to help students understand the importance of non-technical issues. The importance of close integration between business and IS planning will be stressed. The following topics are included: information security and safety critical systems; data protection legislation; Computer Misuse Act and other relevant legislation. Ethical and professional issues. Strategic planning of IS; evaluation of IS investments.

Assessment: One 2 ¼-hour unseen written examination and coursework.
Structure: Available as a Stage 3 Minor course (Computing Information Systems pathway)
Course level: FHEQ level 6

Electronic commerce [CO3323] 15 credits
This course is designed to familiarise students with current and emerging electronic commerce, technologies using the internet. Subject areas will include 'Internet Technology for Business Advantage', 'Web-based Tools for Electronic Commerce', 'Electronic Payment Systems', 'Strategies for Marketing', 'Sales and Promotion', ‘Internet Security’, ‘International, Legal, Ethical and Tax Issues’.

Assessment: One 2 ¼-hour unseen written examination and coursework.
Structure: Available as a Stage 3 Minor course (Computing Information Systems pathway)
Course level: FHEQ level 6

Data compression [CO3325] 15 credits
Minimum redundancy coding; data compression and information theory; adaptive Huffman coding; arithmetic coding; statistical modelling; dictionary-based compression; sliding window compression; LZ278 compression; speech compression; graphics compression; fractal image compression.

Assessment: One 2 ¼-hour unseen written examination and coursework.
Structure: Available as a Stage 3 Minor course (Computer Science pathway)
Course level: FHEQ level 6

Computer security [CO3326] 15 credits
Passwords; access controls; symmetric and asymmetric encryption; confidentiality; authentication; integrity; nonrepudiation; availability; hash functions. Security for electronic mail, IP, Web, databases, distributed systems. Standards.

Assessment: One 2 ¼-hour unseen written examination and coursework.
Structure: Available as a Stage 3 Minor course (Computer Science pathway)
Course level: FHEQ level 6

Interaction design [CO3348] 15 credits
This course examines the notion of 'interaction with technology' with a focus on the design concepts of modern user experience design and production. It begins with a grounding in the specification, design, prototyping and evaluation of advanced interactive systems, with an introduction to HCI and a short history of the field. An overview of design approaches follows. Human/user attributes and requirements, and interaction paradigms, looks at the human in HCI and available types of interaction.
Usability requirements/usability engineering are discussed in the context of a number of specific design approaches and techniques, requirements and issues. Design guidelines and standards, accessibility requirements, and issues involved in designing for specific populations (globalization and internationalism) follows. Finally, information on current interaction design questions and approaches for new and emerging technologies and paradigms provides an exposition of real-world applications and sectors where Interaction Design is relevant.

Assessment: One 2 ¼-hour unseen written examination and coursework.

English

Note: You are forbidden to use the same text in more than one answer in an examination paper, or at any other examination, except that a text studied for a Level 4 course (or as part of the Certificate of Higher Education for students proceeding to the Diploma of Higher Education or the BA in English) may be studied again for a course at Levels 5 or 6, provided that the same material or treatment of that material is not substantially repeated. For exceptions involving individual examinations see the syllabuses/ course outlines for Approaches to Text, Renaissance Comedy: Shakespeare and Jonson below.

For more information about the current structure and requirements of examination papers for each course, students should consult the subject guide for that course, the Programme Handbook, and the past examination papers/Examiners’ reports.

Some examinations have 15 minutes' reading time; please check the examination timetable on our website for further information, https://london.ac.uk/current-students/examinations.

Explorations in Literature [EN1021] 30 credits (Compulsory Course)

This course introduces a wide range of works from the literary canon, from ancient Greek texts in translation to the contemporary, covering the major genres, and embodying significant interventions or influences in literary history. The emphasis is on reading primary texts voraciously and discovering—or rediscovering—diverse writers and cultures, so that students can make informed choices from more specialized courses later in their programme. Not being limited to a period, genre or single approach, the course cultivates difference and chronological sweep; it aims to challenge and surprise, as rewarding ‘exploration’ should.

Prescribed reading includes:

Approaches to Text [EN1010] 30 credits

(Compulsory Course)

This course introduces you to essential concepts in modern literary study, enabling you to become a more observant, perceptive and analytical reader and critic in your own right. You are introduced to the history and nature of literary studies, and to contemporary critical debates. You learn a vocabulary in which to discuss literary language, ideas of literary convention and genre, poetic rhythm and form, and the nature of narrative voice and narrative structures. You are introduced to debates about the relation of texts on the page to texts in performance, and to wider questions about the interpretation of texts.

Students may draw on reading completed for Explorations in Literature answers to questions, but must not present substantially the same material in more than one answer in this or in any other part of the Level 4 course examinations. In addition, students are required to read the following:

Renaissance Comedy: Shakespeare and Jonson [EN1020] 30 credits

This course provides students with an introduction to the works of Shakespeare and Jonson within the genre of ‘comedy’, and seeks to draw attention to the principles of classification which enable these plays to be seen as forming a group. Starting with the hypothesis that the plays themselves may problematize such formulations, the course will examine the cultural specificity of the term ‘comedy’, and the extent to which these plays are part of a process which redefined the role of drama in Elizabethan/Jacobean society. The plays will be treated primarily as literary texts but students will be encouraged to consider the possibilities for interpretation which a ‘stage-centred’ critical approach produces. The plays will be placed in the context of a new dramatic practice which arose within a London of competing commercial and political interests, and students will be required to grasp an overview of the forces shaping the creative production of Shakespeare and Jonson. The demands of the market for which the dramatists were producing, the operation of patronage, the expectations of theatre audiences, and the role of censorship will be considered, and the course will attempt to read through the plays to find the ‘marks’ of these influences.

Prescribed reading will include:

- Ben Jonson, Bartholomew Fair, Volpone, The Alchemist, Every Man in his Humour, Eastward Ho!, Epicoene; or the Silent Woman.

- Shakespeare, Much Ado about Nothing, As You Like It, The Merchant of Venice, A Midsummer Night’s Dream, The Taming of the Shrew, Twelfth Night.

Structure: Available as a Stage 1 Major course

Course level: FHEQ level 4

Introduction to Creative Writing [EN1022] 30 credits

Notice is served on Introduction to Creative Writing [EN1022]. It will be examined in 2020, with resit examinations offered in 2021 and 2022.

This course introduces students to some of the key concepts involved in Creative Writing, especially for those beginning to write. Students are introduced to a writing practice in three different styles of writing (writing fiction; writing poetry and writing for the stage), and will explore how to differentiate between the approaches needed for each style. The course will help students to develop an awareness of not only the contexts into which they write, but some of the different techniques that can be used to grow their writing. The course further aims to develop an understanding of Creative Writing in its literary contexts, using texts students may study elsewhere on their programme as examples. As such, this course ties students’ writing practice very closely to their reading practice, which they may find helpful in subsequent study in the wider field of English.

Prescribed reading includes:

Essential literary texts
- Seamus Heaney, North, (London: Faber and Faber, 2001)

Essential critical texts

Assessment: Coursework submitted through the VLE

Structure: Available as a Stage 1 Major course

Course level: FHEQ level 4

Introduction to Creative and Life Writing [EN1022 - 3] 30 credits

This course is designed as an initial introduction to some of the key concepts and practices involved in Creative and Life Writing. Students will explore three different types of writing: fiction (focusing on the short story), poetry, and prose life writing, engaging with foundational approaches needed for each style. The course will help students develop an awareness of various contexts into which they write, and different techniques that can be used to stimulate, cultivate and improve their writing. The course further aims to present Creative Writing in its literary contexts, using texts that serve to best represent the fields of the short story, poetry, and prose life writing, providing students the opportunity to survey and understand the contemporary canon. As such, this course ties students’ writing practice very closely to the act of reading, a useful tool in the pursuit of English studies.

Mode of assessment: Coursework submitted through the VLE

Prescribed reading includes:

Essential literary texts

Essential critical texts

(Note: These texts will serve as core texts in Level 4, and will also be utilised and referred to in the future Level 5 course; as such, students should be advised to keep these titles for further usage in Level 5)

Introduction to English Language [EN1023] 30 credits

This course introduces students to basic terminology and concepts in the study of the English language. Students get a general introduction to English linguistics, including phonetics and phonology (the study of speech sounds), morphology (the study of words), syntax (the structure of sentences), and semantics (the study of word and sentence meaning). The aim of the course is to give students a basic critical understanding of the theoretical notions used in these disciplines, as well as of the range and variety of approaches to them. The terms and concepts introduced in this course are of relevance to the study of literary texts in any of the English Literature courses. Students who complete this course may also wish to take Varieties of English at Level 5, Language and Gender and/or Language and Media at Level 6.

Varieties of English [EN2001] 30 credits

This course explores how and why language is used differently in a range of contexts. Students will examine the variation of spoken language in relation to region, gender, ethnicity, age and social class; students will see that individuals are able to shift their style of speaking from one situation to the next and we will explore the attitudes that people have towards different varieties of English. The course also examines a range of tools and methodological frameworks that linguists use to analyse both spontaneous spoken interaction, written media and advertisement texts/discourses. The questions that will be addressed may include the following: Do women and men speak differently? What is slang? How and why do adolescents speak differently from adults? What are the public stereotypes about speakers with "non-standard" accents? What is Standard English? How do language choices influence the representation of social groups (e.g. women, asylum seekers) in the media? What are the language strategies employed by politicians? What is the difference between spontaneous talk and scripted drama/soap opera interaction?

The course builds on theoretical knowledge and analytical skills developed in ‘Introduction to English Language’ at Level 4. Students who complete this course may also wish to take Language and Gender and/or Language and Media at Level 6.

Prescribed reading includes:

American Literature [EN3116] 30 credits

This course introduces students to the diverse literatures and literary trends of the United States of America, from its early inception as a colonial project through to the present day, ranging across the 17th/18th/19th/20th and 21st centuries, and exploring the main concepts and contestations which have underpinned the evolution - and various re-shapings - of what has come to be known as ‘American’ literature. The main areas that will be covered in this course – which proceeds thematically rather than strictly chronologically – include: colonial visions of America; postcolonial/revolutionary and republican inventions of the nation, including Transcendentalism; Native American literature, culture and identity; the Frontier, the West and Manifest Destiny; regional literatures, including the Southern Gothic; constructions and treatments of race and ethnicity, including the literature of slavery, African-American writing, constructions of whiteness and white anxieties, Jewish-American writing; constructions of gender and sexuality, including writing by women, treatments of ‘masculinity,’ and queer texts; and the impact of modernity and globalisation, especially within modernist/postmodernist American writing, including the ‘Lost’ and ‘Beat’ generations. Students will consider a range of genres (prose fiction, short stories, poetry, plays), and their connections to other creative mediums (especially visual cultures and music), and will be encouraged to explore a host of literary modes (Romanticism, Realism, Naturalism, Modernism, Postmodernism) as they have been constituted and contested in various American contexts.

Among authors whose work students may choose to study are:
Anne Bradstreet; Mary Rowlandson; Phyllis Wheatley; Louise May Alcott; Emily Dickinson; Ralph Waldo Emerson; Nathaniel Hawthorne; Washington Irving; Henry James; Sarah Orne Jewett; Herman Melville; Edgar Allan Poe; Harriet Beecher Stowe; Henry David Thoreau; Mark Twain; Walt Whitman; Ralph Ellison; William Faulkner; Gertrude Stein; Carson McCullers; Toni Morrison; Alice Walker; Amy Lowell; Marianne Moore; Ezra Pound; Allen Ginsberg; Langston Hughes; Sylvia Plath; Arthur Miller; Tennessee Williams; Paul Auster

Drama since 1860 [EN3085] 30 credits

This course aims to provide students with historical and critical perspectives on the major thematic and stylistic developments in a selection of British, American and European drama between 1860 and the present day. The course encourages students to trace the relationship between the theory and practice of the dramatists listed and seeks to examine the way in which the choice of style or presentation, be it realism, expressionism or the avant-garde, might be seen to reflect the thematic concerns of their plays. The course will also encourage students to consider the relationship between the dramatic text on the page and play in performance, where appropriate.

Language and Gender [EN3117] 30 credits

This course aims to give a comprehensive introduction to the study of language and gender. We will examine how gender is reflected and constituted in language, that is, how women and men speak, how language is used to accomplish femininity and masculinity. Students will become familiar with a wide range of studies exploring the language used by women, men and children in a range of different contexts, including informal talk among friends and talk in work or public settings. The course encourages a critical engagement with past and present approaches to the study of language and gender and draws on a range of different theoretical and methodological frameworks to show how gender and identity can be analysed in language.

Questions which will be addressed on this course include: Do women and men speak differently? How do men and women speak to their friends and to their colleagues at work? How does gender interact with other social variables such as ethnicity, class, and age? In what way does language constitute a resource for the construction of (gender) identity?

The course builds on theoretical knowledge and analytical skills developed in Varieties of English at Level 5.

Language and the Media [EN3118] 30 credits

This course offers an introduction to a number of approaches in the analysis of media texts, and to a multi-modal perspective in the analysis of communication. Students will compare and analyse media and literary texts and genres, engaging with a broad range of examples, for instance newspaper texts, advertising, the language of film, language of television, and others. The course develops critical awareness of a variety of linguistic techniques for analysing media discourse types, and engages with the relationship between text and context.

The course builds on theoretical knowledge and analytical skills developed in Varieties of English at Level 5.

The Novel [EN3070] 30 credits

This course aims to provide students with some historical and critical perspectives on an evolving aesthetic form central to English Studies. Focusing on both works originally written in English and ones in translation, the course surveys selected novels in three broad chronological groupings: eighteenth and nineteenth-century realist novels; early twentieth-century modernist novels; and finally a wide-ranging exploration of the major themes and characteristic narrative strategies associated with ‘anti-realist’ or ‘postmodern’ works of fiction in the later twentieth/early twenty-first centuries.

The course encourages students to consider some relevant theoretical questions on the nature of narrative and the role of the reader, together with critical writing on a variety of topics, ranging from mimesis to genre. Attention will also be given to narrative techniques, including characterisation, use of imagery, narrative voice, scene-making - the strategies of fiction whereby novelists develop individual structures that enable them to say something new in fictional terms.

Among the texts which may be studied for this course (these are suggested texts, not prescribed texts):

Assessment: One 3-hour unseen written paper

Postcolonial Literatures in English [EN3100] 30 credits

This course will primarily examine the range of literature produced since 1947 in the regions of the world formerly under British rule. Students may study literature from the former 'white Dominions' such as Australia and Canada, as well as literature from Asia, Africa and the Caribbean and work produced by the various diasporas of Commonwealth origin within contemporary western societies such as Britain. Themes to be explored include: representations of ‘the metropolitan centre’ and ‘the periphery'; postcolonial interactions with the metropolitan centre through British colonial novels; disillusion with independence; problems of identity and cultural identification; exile and diaspora; neo-colonialism; the role of the intellectual and the artist; the subversion of western literary form; the usages of the English language; problems and opportunities of the postcolonial woman.

Among authors whose work may be studied are:

- Achebe, Ngugi, Soyinka, Narayan, Desai, Aidoo, Harris, Brathwaite, Collins, Philips, Atwood, Hulme, Head, Naipaul, Mo, Rushdie, Lovelace, Erncheta.

Shakespeare [EN3065] 30 credits

This course is concerned with study of Shakespeare's plays, undertaken roughly in the order in which they were written or performed, augmented by close analysis of the poetic means and theatrical conditions through which the playwright emerges. Looking at the plays alongside the theatres of Elizabethan London and the social politics of the period, the course will examine how language and drama evolve in Shakespeare's craft, and the enduringness of his art. The course will take in a range of early modern concerns, political, social, domestic, geographical and aesthetic to explore the evolution of media - the written text and the theatrical production.

By the end of the course you should: have acquired a wide knowledge of the range and variety of Shakespeare's work, of its evolution, and its place within Elizabethan dramatic culture; be able to identify in a range of plays or poems instances of particular themes, artistic patterns, conventions, or problems, and compare these varied instances; be able to analyse and describe in close detail a range of ideas, techniques and themes in a passage selected from a set play.

You will be assessed according to your ability to: demonstrate writing skills and an appropriate conceptual vocabulary sufficient to enable lucid and persuasive critical arguments; respond to questions searching for knowledge of, comparison between, assessment of, and sensitivity to, a wide range of Shakespeare's works; demonstrate close reading and interpretative skills responsive to specified aspects of 'set play' passages.

Among texts to be studied are (from which six extracts will be drawn for Section A of the examination):

- Titus Andronicus, Richard III, King John, Henry V, Troilus and Cressida, Measure for Measure, King Lear, Antony and Cleopatra, Pericles and The Winter's Tale
Students may refer to both the above list and Shakespeare's other plays and his poems in their examination answers for Sections B and C. However, no answers are allowed on the plays listed for study in the courses Explorations in Literature (namely Hamlet and The Tempest) and Renaissance Comedy (namely Much Ado About Nothing, As You Like It, The Merchant of Venice, A Midsummer Night’s Dream, The Taming of the Shrew and Twelfth Night).

Philosophy

Introduction to philosophy [PY1020] 30 credits

(Core Course)

An introduction to the subject matter and methods of philosophy by means of a study of certain fundamental philosophical problems and texts. In this course, students will be introduced to the methods and content of philosophy by considering, at an elementary level and in a carefully guided way, some of the central problems that arise within the subject. Topics covered include: the problem of free-will and determinism, the nature of the self, the relation of the mind to the body, the nature of knowledge, the ideal of equality, issues raised by portrayals of tragedy, the reality of qualities, and our understanding of moral dilemmas.

Assessment: One 2-hour unseen written paper

Ethics: historical perspectives [PY1095] 30 credits

An exploration of the history of moral philosophy, including the views of Plato, Aristotle, Hume, Kant and Mill. The works of these philosophers are not merely of historical importance to the development of moral philosophy. They continue to shape contemporary discussion and, even more importantly, they are part of the fabric of our culture. Conceptions of morality that are now widely shared were in large part shaped by these thinkers. This historical background prepares the way for the second of the ethics courses, which deals with contemporary perspectives.

Epistemology [PY1025] 30 credits

An investigation of the problems of analysing knowledge, and dealing with the challenge of scepticism. Epistemology is sometimes known as the theory of knowledge and, as this name suggests, it is a philosophical enquiry into knowledge. The questions it seeks to answer are: What is knowledge? How do we get it? Are the means we employ to get it defensible? These questions prompt a number of debates. One concerns the conditions that have to be satisfied for it to be true that someone knows something. Enquiry into this problem shows that we need to understand belief and its relation to knowledge; and that we have to be clear about the nature of any justification we have for our knowledge claims. Another debate concerns the adequacy of our ways of getting knowledge. We typically employ reason and perception in this task, but the challenge of scepticism shows that the uses we make of them involve a number of serious difficulties. A satisfactory account of knowledge has to address all these matters.

Logic [PY1070] 30 credits

The content of this course is sometimes called either ‘philosophical logic’ or ‘philosophy of logic’. The topics studied are closely related, and count among the most fundamental and challenging in philosophy. Some grounding in them is essential for an appreciation of what is discussed in all other branches of philosophy, and it is for this reason that logic is studied early on. Logic is the study of the central notions that figure in our most general attempts to understand reasoning. Included here are: validity, truth, necessity, identity, naming and reference, existence, conditionals and counterfactual conditionals, as well as a number of issues raised by the relationship of formal logic to natural language. (Note: it is advised that students acquire some background in elementary formal logic either whilst doing this course, or before attempting it.)

Greek philosophy: Plato and the Pre-Socratics [PY1085] 30 credits

The interpretation of the extant fragments of Pre-Socratic Philosophy and a selection of Plato’s dialogues, including (but not limited to) The Republic, Symposium, Theatetus, Phaedo, Philebus and Parmenides. The course focuses on the work of the predecessors of Plato – collectively known as the pre-Socratics – as well as on the main dialogues of Plato. It has been said that all of philosophy is a series of footnotes to Plato. While this is certainly an exaggeration, it points to the fundamental importance to philosophy of its history, and in particular of the part played in that history by Plato.

Modern philosophy: Descartes, Locke, Berkeley and Hume [PY1065] 30 credits

Study of the main metaphysical, logical and epistemological views of Descartes, Locke, Berkeley and Hume. The philosophers Locke, Berkeley and Hume are generally reckoned to be the main representatives of the empiricist tradition, whereas Descartes is seen as one of the forerunners of the rationalist school. However, the work of the empiricists can be seen as a reaction – in part – to Descartes and rationalism generally, so this first subject in modern philosophy begins with Descartes. The label ‘modern’ is intended as a contrast to ‘ancient’, (i.e. Plato, the Pre-Socratics and Aristotle, among others). It is generally understood as covering the late seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries – a period in which there was a decisive break with ancient philosophy.

Ethics: contemporary perspectives [PY3115] 30 credits

Prerequisite: Ethics: historical perspectives [PY1095]

An investigation of the central questions in moral philosophy including such issues as: the metaphysical status of moral value, morality and truth, theories of the good, moral relativism and moral conflict, consequentialism and moral accountability. Ethics or moral philosophy is the inquiry into the nature of moral value. It is concerned with questions about goodness, right and wrong, the virtues and the nature of the worthwhile life. One way into a consideration of moral philosophy is to read the works of those who have made substantial contributions to our understanding of moral questions: Plato, Aristotle, Hume, Kant, Mill and others. (This is the subject matter of the other course in ethics). But a historical approach needs to be complemented by the more direct consideration of questions about virtue, action, consequences, rights, duties, the ‘fact-value’ distinction, the nature of moral truth, the universalisability of moral principles, and much besides. These sorts of issue form the basis of this course.

Metaphysics [PY3075] 30 credits

Prerequisite: Logic [PY1070]

An exploration of the main questions of metaphysics, including those raised by the nature of substance, problems of identity and individuation, as well as issues involving time, causation and universals. Specific metaphysical questions are so various and important that discussion of some of them has come to form separate branches of philosophy, for example Philosophy of mind and Philosophy of religion, both of which are in the list of optional courses. However, the central and more general questions of existence and reality remain part of this course, and give rise to more specific ones that are also studied, namely: What is time? Are particulars more basic than events? Do human beings have free will? What is causality? Are there universals? Does the world exist independently of our knowledge of it?

Methodology: induction, reason and science [PY3035] 30 credits

Prerequisite: Epistemology [PY1025]

An investigation of explanation generally, and in science, as well as the problems of induction and confirmation. Methodology is a continuation of epistemology in a particular direction: it is, in part, an enquiry into the nature of the reasoning and methods used in investigation of the natural and social world. It includes, in fact, elementary philosophy of science, and it considers questions about inductive reasoning, probability, explanation, evidence, ‘laws of nature’ and the reality of ‘theoretical entities’ such as elementary particles and fields. The optional course Philosophy of science takes these topics further, but this course provides a groundwork which is both of intrinsic interest and great value to inquiry in other fields of philosophy.

Assessment: One 2 hour unseen written paper
Modern philosophy: Spinoza, Leibniz and Kant [PY3125] 30 credits

Prerequisite: Modern philosophy: Descartes, Locke, Berkeley and Hume [PY1065]

Study of the main metaphysical, logical and epistemological views of Spinoza, Leibniz and Kant. All three are generally agreed to be thinkers of the front rank, and each is difficult, though in different ways. This course focuses on the rationalist tradition in modern philosophy, and begins the study of Kant. (Further work on Kant can be undertaken by studying the optional course devoted to his writings.) As with the other courses in modern philosophy, this one is concerned primarily with the epistemological and metaphysical views of these thinkers.

Assessment: One 3 hour unseen written paper

Greek philosophy: Aristotle [PY3120] 30 credits

Prerequisite: Greek philosophy: the Pre-Socratics and Plato [PY1085]

The study of the broadly metaphysical, logical and epistemological doctrines of Aristotle. Works covered include: Physics, On God, De Anima (On the Soul), Categories and Posterior Analytics and Metaphysics. More than any other single philosopher, Aristotle has shaped the development of western philosophical thinking, whether because of agreement and development of his ideas, or in opposition to them. The emphasis in this course will be on Aristotle’s logical, epistemological and metaphysical views; his ethical writings form part of the subject on historical perspectives on ethics.

Assessment: One 3 hour unseen written paper

Continental philosophy: Hegel, Schopenhauer and Nietzsche [PY3190] 30 credits

Prerequisite: Modern philosophy: Spinoza, Leibniz and Kant [PY3125]

This course covers the main doctrines of Hegel and two post-Hegelian nineteenth-century German philosophers: Schopenhauer and Nietzsche. It is advisable to also have knowledge of Kant’s philosophy when studying this course. Despite its difficulty, Hegel’s philosophy has been highly influential, notwithstanding the fact that there have always been many detractors. Notable among them is Schopenhauer who took every opportunity to abuse Hegel, describing his philosophy as obscurantist. Schopenhauer’s philosophy left an influential legacy and not just within the limits of academia. His aesthetic theory has inspired many artists, particularly musicians, for example, Wagner. Within philosophy itself, the influence Schopenhauer had on Nietzsche is perhaps the most far reaching. Nietzsche suffered from lack of recognition during his lifetime. Nazi propagandists made much of his sayings which, when taken out of context and without giving due regard to Nietzsche’s predilection for hyperbole and excess, did lend themselves readily to gross distortion and exploitation.

Aesthetics [PY3130] 30 credits
An investigation of problems such as: the nature and value of art, aesthetic judgement, representation, expression and interpretation. Included will be a historical approach to these issues involving writers such as Plato, Aristotle, Kant, Nietzsche and Collingwood. Wide reading in the history of aesthetics is necessary for a proper approach to the course. Issues in contemporary aesthetics are illuminated by their treatment throughout history, and the understanding and assessment of the views of past thinkers is facilitated by reflection on the problems they deal with. Aesthetics, done properly, is as hard and as rewarding as any branch of philosophy. It is philosophy turning its attention to the nature of aesthetic experience and judgement, and to questions about art, the different art forms, how they relate to the world and to the mind, and what value they may have.

Philosophy of language [PY3210] 30 credits
An exploration of the notion of meaning as well as an investigation into the more detailed problems arising from study of natural language. Included are topics such as metaphor, reference and the nature of rules and language. Philosophy of language is organised around general questions of language and meaning. The nature of language has long been an obsession of philosophers. More recently it has also become the focus of empirical investigation in linguistics. The course considers general methodological considerations about meaning and reference: what form should a theory of meaning take; what does knowledge of meaning consist of; what kinds of facts are there about meaning? Certain figures have dominated discussion of language in the twentieth century - Frege, Russell, Wittgenstein, Quine, Grice, Davidson and Chomsky. In addition to studying the work of these philosophers, students will have the opportunity to look at particular problems concerning indexical expressions; proper names; the nature of definite descriptions; pronouns and quantified phrases in natural language; indirect contexts and propositional attitude ascriptions; adverbs, adjectives and metaphor.

Philosophy of mind [PY3100] 30 credits
This course is concerned with metaphysical and epistemological issues that arise from reflecting on the mind. It explores the problems raised by intentionality, consciousness and action. Issues covered include: the relationship of the mind to the physical world, the philosophy of psychology, and the understanding of subjectivity and the nature of human action. Study of logic, metaphysics, epistemology and methodology also contribute to this course.

Political philosophy [PY3090] 30 credits

The study of the history of political philosophy as well as an investigation of contemporary issues. Included in the historical part of the course are works by Hobbes, Locke, Rousseau, Hegel, Marx and Mill. Contemporary issues involve topics such as political authority and the state, democracy, liberalism, distributive justice and markets and capitalism. Throughout the history of Western philosophy, those figures whose thought has engaged with ethical problems have been equally concerned with political philosophy and vice versa. Just as the form of ethical theories has varied greatly over the last 2,000 years, so too have the forms that questions and answers take within political philosophy. It is, therefore, very important to address the problems of political philosophy within both a historical and an ethical framework.

Philosophy of religion [PY3110] 30 credits

Students may not study both the Divinity course Philosophy of religion [DT2004] and this course.

Philosophy of religion is not a course that is easily demarcated in respect of its scope and point. That said, philosophy of religion is commonly understood to be the philosophical scrutiny of the claims of religious believers and those made on behalf of religious traditions. The focus of study is principally on the three monotheistic traditions of the West: Judaism, Christianity and Islam. Those coming to the subject for the first time need to be aware that it demands competence in many of the central areas of philosophy: metaphysics, philosophical logic, epistemology and ethics. In this respect, the course provides a student with an opportunity to apply their general philosophical acumen to a body of important questions concerning theism. Among the questions raised are: the existence of God; the coherence of theism; the compatibility of divine omniscience and human freedom; the problem of evil; and immortality.

Dissertation [PY3500]

(Core Course)

Students must have passed all courses of their major programme of study in Stage 1 and Stage 2 before registering for this course.

A dissertation of 7,500 words on a topic to be negotiated with a member of the staff at Birkbeck College, University of London. Students will receive feedback on a one-page outline (consisting of a working title, a summary of the main sections of the dissertation, and a short bibliography), and comments on a complete draft, if required.

A dissertation can be on any topic in philosophy that falls within the area of competence of a member of the Department. Producing one allows students the chance to call on their accumulated knowledge of the subject. Most students feel that this module rounds off their degree, giving them a real sense of achievement.

Assessment: One dissertation of 7500 words

Divinity

Where the English text of the Bible is quoted in examination papers, the Revised Standard Version will be used. References to the Old Testament in Hebrew are to the enumeration of the Masoretic Text; references to the Old Testament in English are to the enumeration of the Revised Standard Version. Students are recommended to use either the Revised Standard Version or the New Revised Standard Version when preparing for the examination. Where the New Testament is quoted in Greek in examination papers, the text and apparatus used by the examiners will be the Novum Testamentum Graece, 26th edition of Nestlé-Aland, ed. K ALAND and B ALAND, Stuttgart, Deutsche Bibelstiftung, 1979. Students are recommended to use either the 26th or 27th edition when preparing for the examination.

Students are at liberty to use for study any good editions of the other prescribed texts which may be accessible to them, but are advised that quotations in examination papers will be taken from the editions of the texts listed.

Reading the Hebrew Bible/Old Testament [DT1001]

This module provides an introduction to key books of the Hebrew Bible/Old Testament, a knowledge of which is essential for those wishing to gain an understanding of Judaism and Christianity and their cultural, social and political influence during the last two millennia through to the present day.

Topics covered:

Biblical Hebrew: Language and texts [DT2002-03]

Formerly Foundations in Biblical Hebrew [DT2002]

The Hebrew Bible/Old Testament is a key text in the study of Divinity and a deep understanding of this text is crucial for historical, theological, and narrative analysis. As the text is composed almost completely in Biblical Hebrew, knowledge of this ancient language is a vital tool for developing that deep understanding.

Topics covered:

- The Hebrew alphabet, vocalisation, syllabification and tone, the definite article, the conjunction waw (units 1-4)
- Nouns (gender and number); Verb conjugations: qal qatal, yiqtol, wayyiqtol (5-8)
- Adjectives, demonstratives, the construct chain (formation and use) (9-13)
- Possessive suffixes, personal pronouns, suffixes on prepositions, cardinal numbers (14-18)
- Verb conjugations: qal weqatal, active participle, volitives, infinitives construct and absolute (19-23)
- The qal passive participle, stative verbs, ordinal numbers, object suffixes on verbs (24-27)
- Verbal stems: the nifal, hifil, hofal (27-29)
- Verbal stems: the piel, pual, hitpael (30-32)
- Weak roots: I/II/III-guttural, III-alef, III-he, I-alef (33-36)
- Weak roots: I-n, I-y/w, hollow, geminate; minor stems (37-40)

Each topic will additionally involve the translation of adapted Biblical texts from a range of Biblical books.

Assessment: A 3-hour unseen written examination (100%)

Structure: Available as a Stage 2 or Stage 3 Major module

Module level: FHEQ level 5

Sacrifice, praise and wisdom [DT2014]

This module will enable students to build upon and develop an existing awareness and understanding of the field of Hebrew Bible/Old Testament scholarship by means of a study of three core texts, namely:

- The Book of Leviticus
- The Psalms
- The Wisdom Literature of Job, Ecclesiastes and Proverbs.

Prerequisite: You must already have passed the module Reading the Hebrew Bible/Old Testament formerly Introduction to the Old Testament at Level 4.

Topics covered:

- Method in biblical study

Leviticus

- The shape of the book of Leviticus: a meaningful organisation?
Programme Regulations 2020–2021 Combined Degree Scheme (BA/DipHE/CertHE)

- The concept of ‘holiness’: Purity and Impurity in the book of Leviticus
- Understanding Ritual in the book of Leviticus and contemporary issues

Psalms
- The poetry and shape of the canonical book of Psalms
- Psalms in worship

Wisdom
- Wisdom Literature in Israel and the Ancient Near East
- Proverbs: linking creation and moral order
- Job and the limits of theodicy
- Ecclesiastes: A Crisis of Wisdom?

Assessment: A two thousand-word essay (40%) and a 1.5-hour unseen written examination (60%).

New Testament Greek: Language and texts [DT2003] 30 credits
This module allows students at Level 5 to develop the linguistic skills in koiné Greek needed to move beyond the basic textual interpretation involved in the Level 4 module.

The module will focus on Mark 8-10 and John 18-21 and will equip you for a more detailed exegetical study of substantial portions of New Testament text at Level 6, for example, in Texts in Greek: John and Romans.

Topics covered include:
- The Greek alphabet
- Verbs
- Nouns
- The definite article
- Prepositions
- Adjectives
- Conjunctions
- Pronouns
- Asking questions
- Translating the prescribed texts

Assessment: A 3-hour unseen written examination.

Module level: FHEQ level 5

Christian doctrine [DT2135] 30 credits
This module is for anyone who wishes to gain an understanding of key Christian beliefs and the study of Christian ‘theo-logy’ that is, how Christians ‘speak’ about God. It builds on theological ideas about the nature of Jesus Christ, the doctrine of a Trinitarian God, and the salvation of humankind, drawing on key theological discussions and their developments.
Prerequisite: In order to take this module, you must already have passed the module Reading the New Testament or Introduction to the New Testament at Level 4.

Topics covered:
The module is divided into three major themes: Christology, Trinity, and Salvation.

Christology
- The 'Historical Jesus' vs The 'Christ'
- The Incarnation
- The Hypostatic Union

Trinity
- The Trinity as Love and Self-Gift
- Persons and Relations
- The Processions and the Relation to Creatures

Salvation
- 'The Paschal Mystery': Jesus' Suffering, Death, and Resurrection
- Justification and Salvation: How the 'Work' of Jesus is Applied to Human Beings
- Consummation: Rising from the Dead

Assessment: A two thousand word essay (40%) and a 1.5-hour seen written examination (60%).

Structure: Available as a Stage 2 or Stage 3 Minor module

Module Level: FHEQ level 5

History of Christianity [DT2001-03]
This module introduces the central events, personalities, movements and ideas that have influenced the history of Christianity from the first to the twenty-first century. It provides an overview of the experiences, theological debates and socio-political contexts that have impacted the development of Christianity from a sect of Judaism into a global religion. It critically analyses notable turning points in the evolution of this religion and highlights both the reforms and ruptures that brought about its three major branches: Catholicism, Protestantism, and Orthodoxy. Students should expect to reflect critically on the reconfiguration of Christianity over time, forming their own interpretation of its historical and contemporary significance.

Topics covered include:
- Jewish and Non-Jewish Christianity
- Early Christian Martyrdom: Perceptions and Realities
- Imperial and Conciliar Christianity
- Medieval Reform and Rupture
- Medieval Christianity: Conquest and Creativity
- The Protestant Reformations
- The Radical and Catholic Reformations
- Christianity during the Age of Enlightenment
- Christianity during the Age of World War
- Ecumenism, Vatican II, and the Global Realignment of Christianity

Buddhism [DT2009-02]

This module is an introduction to Buddhism. It focuses on the exploration of the ‘Three Jewels’ of Buddhism, i.e. the Buddha (its founder and inspirational icon), the Dharma (his teachings, including doctrinal developments in subsequent centuries, and systems of practice) and the Sangha (the communities of those who identify themselves in different ways as ‘Buddhists’). The module will look at how Buddhists perceived the world and deities in the pre-modern period, and how they analysed human experience as a background to religious practice. It will examine core religious practices including meditation and look at major historical developments of Buddhism in India and Southeast Asia.

Topics covered will include:

- Dharma, the Buddha’s teaching
- The Buddha and the bodhisattva; polytheism and atheism
- The Sangha: The role of monastics and the rules they follow
- Women in Buddhism
- Buddhist practice: meditation
- Buddhist Ethics: karma, precepts, non-harming. Buddhist approaches to disability, abortion, suicide and euthanasia

University of London
Programme Regulations 2020–2021 Combined Degree Scheme
(BA/DipHE/CertHE)

- Buddhist Ethics: the environment, attitudes to meat-eating, and social engagement
- Buddhist scripture
- Doctrinal developments in India: the Mahayana
- Ritual and ‘magical’ dimensions from soteriology to protection: Vajrayana; apotropaic practices including amulets.

Religion and ethics [DT2007-03]

The relationship between religion and ethics is about that between revelation and reason. Adherents to religious belief hold that God (however understood) has revealed insights into the true meaning of life, collected into sacred texts, and often supplemented by ‘tradition’, the accumulated wisdom of communities. From a strictly humanistic perspective, ethics is based on ‘reason’, so that anything that is not rationally verifiable cannot be considered justifiable. Such ethical principles are valued for promoting autonomous and responsible individuals who are capable of making decisions for their own good and that of the society within which they live. The challenge then is to establish some common ground between them, not only to avoid a destructive collision between the two, but to set the scene to expand the possibility of making constructive approaches to contemporary ethical issues.

Topics covered:

- The relationship between religion and ethics
- Using reason: the perspective of natural law and human rights
- Using reason: utilitarianism and deontology
- Being virtuous, religious or not
- What religion contributes to ethical discourse: Judaism, Christianity and Islam
- What religion contributes to ethical discourse: Hinduism and Buddhism
- Towards a ‘Global Ethic’
- Religion and Ethics: environmental stewardship
- Religion and Ethics: the sanctity of life
- Religion and ethics: war and peace

Assessment: A two thousand-word essay (40%) and a 1.5-hour unseen written examination (60%).

Structure: Available as a Stage 2 or Stage 3 Major/Minor module

Module level: FHEQ level 5
Christian ethics [DT2007] 30 credits

This module has been replaced by Religion and ethics [DT2007-03]. Christian ethics [DT2007] is available for resits only in 2020–2021 and the final examinations will take place in May 2021.

This module is intended to provide a ‘way in’ to examining the how and the why of moral decision-making and especially how such decision-making might be influenced by the standpoint of Christianity.

Topics covered:
Section A: The philosophical background in relation to:
The Nature of Humankind: religious accounts of human nature compared with other theories; the worth of persons and the value of human life; the nature of conscience; the freedom of the will;
The Nature of Human Acts: the relation of acts to consequences; acts and omissions; the principle of double effect; deontological and teleological accounts of right action.
Section B: The characteristics of Christian ethics in relation to the basic Christian doctrines concerning God, humankind and society.
Section C: A consideration of selected contemporary moral problems in the light of the foregoing.

Assessment: One 3-hour unseen written examination.
Structure: Available as a Stage 2 or Stage 3 Major/Minor module
Module level: FHEQ level 5

Philosophy of religion [DT2145] 30 credits

Students may not study both the Philosophy course Philosophy of religion [PY3110] and this module.

This module focuses on what we can reasonably say about the nature of the divine and whether there are sound arguments for the existence, or non-existence, of the divine.

Topics covered:
- the nature of divine power
- the nature of divine wisdom
- divine action: miracles and petitionary prayer
- cosmological arguments for the existence of the divine
- design arguments for the existence of the divine
- arguments from religious experience
- ontological arguments for the existence of the divine
- the problem of evil
- the problem of religious diversity
- life, death and hope.

Assessment: A two thousand word essay (40%) and a 1.5-hour seen written examination (60%).

Texts in Hebrew [DT3001] 30 credits

Formerly Advanced Biblical Hebrew

Prerequisite: Foundations in Biblical Hebrew [DT2002]

This Level 6 module provides an opportunity to use the skills learned at Level 5 to engage in depth with the language and interpretation of a selection of longer texts from the Hebrew Bible.
Topics covered:

Students will conduct a detailed study of Exodus 1-15 and Proverbs 1-9 in Hebrew. The primary emphasis is the exegesis of the texts, but attention will also be paid to textual and philological questions.

Assessment: A 3-hour written examination.

Structure: Available as a Stage 2 or Stage 3 Major module

Module level: FHEQ level 6

Texts in Greek: John and Romans [DT3035]

Prerequisite: In order to take this module, you must already have passed the module New Testament Greek at Level 5.

This module allows students who have passed the module New Testament Greek: Language and Texts at Level 5 to use and develop their skills in reading and interpreting New Testament Greek through detailed study of more extensive sections of the Gospel of John and the Epistle to the Romans in Greek.

Topics covered:

John's Gospel
- John 1. The Prologue and its Prospects in the Gospel
- John 2-6. “Signs” and Debates
- John 7-12. Conflicts and context
- John 13-17. Farewell discourses

Romans
- The Romans Debate. Why did Paul send this letter to Rome? Does it matter?
- Romans 1-4. Jew and Greek, faithfulness and unfaithfulness
- Romans 5-8 Sin, flesh, Adam and righteousness
- Romans 5-8 Sin, flesh, law and restoration
- Romans 9-11. Israel, Gentiles and Paul’s mission

Assessment: This module will be assessed by a 2,000-word essay (40%) and a 1.5-hour unseen written examination (60%)

Structure: Available as a Stage 2 or Stage 3 Major module.

Module level: FHEQ level 6

New Testament theology: Texts in English [DT3050-02]

This module builds on the introductory module, Reading the New Testament to focus on New Testament theology. The module enables students to explore three key areas of New Testament theological thought: Christology, soteriology, and eschatology. As students engage with the Gospels, the Pauline writings, the letter to the Hebrews and the Book of Revelation, they will gain an appreciation of the university and diversity that characterises New Testament theology. They will develop skills in interpreting New Testament texts in terms of their theological content, while remaining sensitive to the historical, social and cultural context of the texts.

Prerequisite: In order to take this module, you must already have passed the module Reading the New Testament at Level 4.

Topics covered:
Selected texts in English on the following themes:

A. Christology
- The Synoptic Christologies
- Pauline Christology
- Christology: John's Gospel
- Christology: Hebrews

B. Soteriology (Mainly Pauline)
- Soteriology: The Death of Jesus
- Soteriology: Justification by Faith
- Soteriology: Participation in Christ

C. Eschatology
- Eschatology: The Synoptic Gospels
- Eschatology: Paul
- Eschatology: Book of Revelation

Assessment: A two thousand-word essay on a topic from Sections A or B of the module (40%) and a 1.5-hour unseen written examination, consisting of three sections; students must answer two questions from different sections (60%).

Structure: Available as a Stage 2 or Stage 3 Major module.
Module level: FHEQ level 6

Liturgical studies [DT3006]

This module is being withdrawn. It is available for resits only in 2020–2021 and the final examinations will take place in May 2021.

A general introduction to liturgy, with particular emphasis on the principles underlying the various changes in worship and the liturgical movements.

Topics will include the following: a general introduction to the principles of worship; prayer, covenant, sacrifice, symbolism; the Jewish background; the evolution of forms of worship and the Christian calendar; corporate worship and private devotion in the Middle Ages; worship during the Reformation; the Books of Common Prayer; the modern liturgical movement, Roman Catholic and Reformed; modern revisions of the Book of Common Prayer.

Assessment: A 3-hour unseen written examination.

Structure: Available as a Stage 2 or Stage 3 Major module.
Module level: FHEQ level 6

The theology of Christian-Jewish Relations [DT3015] 30 credits

This module is being withdrawn. It is available for resits only in 2020–2021 and the final examinations will take place in May 2021.

Perhaps for the first time since the First Century CE, Christians have begun to develop a positive relationship to Jews that replaces the ‘Divinity of contempt’ which treated Judaism as part of the pre-history of Christianity. The Holocaust (Shoah) prompted Christian self-examination, and some Jewish scholars have begun to develop a reciprocal, positive approach to the Christian Church. This module will examine central questions in this theological dialogue: issues in the parting of the ways in the first century; Rabbinic Judaism and Torah-centred life; how to handle the presence of anti-Jewish sentiments in the New Testament; issues in the Divinity of supersessionism and the Christian theological negation of Judaism; recent Christian theological approaches to Jewish identity and corresponding proposals from Jewish scholars; Franz Rosenzweig and the Divinity of a conjoined mission of Jews and Christians; issues in Jewish self-definition and unfinished issues faced by both traditions.

Assessment: One 3-hour unseen written examination.

Structure: Available as a Stage 2 or Stage 3 Major module or a Stage 3 Minor module

Module level: FHEQ level 6

Christian-Muslim Relations [DT3016] 30 credits

This module is being withdrawn. It is available for resits only in 2020–2021 and the final examinations will take place in May 2021.

This module presents the ways in which Islam has responded to the religious “other” and specifically Christianity from its origins to modern times. It shows the significance of the figure of Jesus/Isa in Islam; examines how the impact on Islam of modernity has affected its attitudes to Christianity and Christians; addresses central issues of doctrinal disagreement between the two religions from a theological perspective; engages with Christian thoughts on Islam; and appreciates the contemporary context of Christian-Muslim relations in contemporary Europe.

Assessment: One 3-hour unseen written examination.

Structure: Available as a Stage 2 or Stage 3 Major module or a Stage 3 Minor module

Module level: FHEQ level 6

Buddhism [DT3009] 30 credits

This module is being withdrawn at FHEQ Level 6. It is available for resits only in 2020–2021 and the final examinations will take place in May 2021. A redeveloped version of this module is now available at Level 5.

This module provides an opportunity to study the main features of Buddhism as a world religion, with the emphasis on Indian Buddhism.

Topics covered will include:

- Early Buddhist doctrinal teachings in their religious context
- The Buddhist community and monasticism
- The scholastic Abhidhamma tradition, and sectarian developments
- Mahayana Buddhism as a later form of Buddhism: the changing emphases of the teachings, especially the role of the Bodhisattva
- Key features of Buddhism in Tibet (including Vajrayana), China and Japan

Assessment: One 3-hour unseen written examination.

Structure: Available as a Stage 2 or Stage 3 Major module or a Stage 3 Minor module

Module level: FHEQ level 6

Religion and Science [DT3030]

The module aims to explore the multiple relationships between science and religion in the light of the cutting-edge developments in science and technology which are reshaping our lives. Key topics which will be explored include robotics, bioengineering and genetic modification, the prospects for human life-extension, the development of neurophysiological accounts of what is going on inside our brains and bodies when we meditate or pray, and the discussion about what ‘life’ is, why it has emerged, and where else we might expect to find it. These cutting-edge topics will be securely rooted in an initial overview of the historical relations between religion and science and more specifically in an exploration of Ian Barbour’s classic ‘four types’ of relationship: conflict, independence, dialogue and integration. The first half of the module will provide students with a clear grasp of the historical tensions and methodological differences between science and religion. The second half will look to extend this understanding by looking at a series of specific problems.

Topics covered:

Section A:
- The Relations between Religion and Science
- Problematic Models of these Relations: New Atheism and Intelligent Design

Section B:
- A Key Historical Dispute: Galileo
- The Idea of Scientific Method
- Cosmology and the Anthropic Principle
- Teleology and Biology
- The Neuroscience and Evolutionary Psychology of Religion
- Religion and Technology 1: Robotics
- Religion and Technology 2: The ethical implications of life extension
- Faith and the Crossing of Biological Boundaries

Assessment: A two thousand-word essay (40%) and a 1.5-hour unseen written examination (60%)

Structure: Available as a Stage 2 or Stage 3 Major module.

Module level: FHEQ level 6

Interfaith relations [DT3055-02]

Students will have been introduced to all five main world religions in the module Religion, meaning and value at Level 4, and will have studied some of them at greater depth in other modules. In this module, students will be offered an opportunity to examine a range of key interactions between these religions – clashes of beliefs and values, the historical events to which these have given rise, and ways in which difficulties, actual and potential, might be resolved.

Topics covered:
- Introduction to interfaith relations
- Christian-Jewish relations in the New Testament
- Later Christian responses to Judaism
- Franz Rosenzweig on Judaism and Christianity
- Contemporary Jewish responses to Christianity
- Jewish-Muslim relations
Christian-Muslim relations
Muslim-Christian relations
Hinduism and interfaith relations
Buddhism and interfaith relations

Assessment: A two thousand-word essay (40%) and a 1.5-hour unseen written examination (60%).

Structure: Available as a Stage 2 or Stage 3 Major module.
Module level: FHEQ level 6

Religion and violence [DT3060-02]

Religiously infused violence has become a feature of life at the present time, and the relation of religion and violence has become a matter of considerable public debate. Critics of ‘religion’ accuse it of being the source and cause of violence, and members of different religious traditions, partly under this pressure, examine the way in which their sacred texts, history and present life contain not only actual violence in the name of God, but also symbolic and ritual violence that in some measure appear to validate further religious violence. This module addresses these and related issues in a reflective and analytic way.

Topics covered:

- Introduction and preliminary readings and orientation
- Religious violence, terrorism and the secular city
- Violence in sacred texts
- Monotheism and violence
- Islam and violence
- Religious non-violence: Tolstoy and Gandhi
- A non-violent Jesus in a violent world: N. T. Wright
- René Girard on violence, religion and scapegoating
- Freud on the ‘primal murder’ and religion

Assessment: A two thousand-word essay (40%) and a 1.5-hour unseen written examination (60%).

Structure: Available as a Stage 2 or Stage 3 Major or Minor module.
Module level: FHEQ level 6

Religion and Global Politics [DT3045]

Religion plays an increasingly prominent role in our world today. Religion is central to political developments across the globe, ranging from presidential elections in the United States to Hindu nationalism in India, and from inter-state conflict to peace and reconciliation. In this module we will begin with the study of various models of how states structure their relationship with religion, such as the established church and the separation of church and state. We will then look at how the political motivations of religious people can shape a range of political issues, from the anti-apartheid movement of the late 20th century to terrorism today. Finally, we will take a fully global perspective to consider the roles of religions in large-scale issues of conflict, peace, and democratization.

Topics covered:

- Introduction to Religion and Global Politics

Section A

- Religion-State Relations
- Religion and State in Europe
- Religion and State in the United States
- Religion and State in India and China

Section B

- Political Engagement and Activism
- Religion in 20th Century Political Movements
- Islam in Europe
- Religion and Politics in a Global City

Section C

- Global Conflict, Peace, and Democracy
- The Clash of Civilizations
- The Changing Politics of Global Christianity
- Religion and Democracy

Assessment: A two thousand-word essay (40%) and a 1.5-hour unseen written examination (60%).

Structure: Available as a Stage 2 or Stage 3 Major module.

Module level: FHEQ level 6

The tasks of life: Pascal, Kafka, Weil and Levinas [DT3013] 30 credits

This module is being withdrawn. It is available for resits only in 2020–2021 and the final examinations will take place in May 2021.

This module will examine four significant thinkers - Blaise Pascal, Franz Kakfa, Simone Weil, and Emmanuel Levinas - who are linked by a shared sense that our knowledge of ourselves, God and our purpose is difficult and tentative; best lived rather than thought; and glimpsed in fragments rather than grasped through extended metaphysical narratives. It will examine the distinctive features of these thinkers in relation to the constraints, possibilities and flourishing of human life and how they view human life in relation to God, religion and ethics. It will engage in a critical and comparative evaluation of the distinctive features of the four writers, their religious anthropology and the contribution of their religious background to their thought.

You will study the following topics:

- Pascal’s Augustinian approach to sin, boredom and diversion; the three orders of body, mind, heart in relation to the world and God; God known through religious experience; the challenge of deism and atheism; the hidden God and revelation.
• Kafka’s stories as metaphysical parables and their diverse interpretations; possible religious background to his thought; cruelty and religion; modernity and religion; alienation and judgement in a secular context.

• Weil on Plato’s myth of the Great Beast and the allegory of the Cave; how the world expresses divine goodness and beauty, yet is harsh towards humans; divine kenosis and creation; beauty, love of neighbour and religious rituals as implicit ways of loving God.

• Levinas on responsibility for the other; the centrality of ethics and religion; the Jewish meaning of suffering; comparison of Judaism and Christianity on suffering, responsibility and mercy; ‘universalising’ Judaism.

Assessment: One 3-hour unseen written examination.

Structure: Available as a Stage 2 or Stage 3 Major module or a Stage 3 Minor module

Module level: FHEQ level 6

Dissertation [DT3012] 30 credits (Core Module)

Students must have passed all modules or courses of their major programme of study in Stage 1 and Stage 2 before registering for this module.

A Dissertation of 8,000-10,000 words on an agreed topic.

Assessment: A dissertation of 8,000-10,000 words

Structure: Available as a Stage 3 Major module

Module level: FHEQ level 6
