Important information regarding the Programme Regulations

Last revised: 14 August 2020

As a student registered with the University of London you are governed by the current General Regulations and Programme Regulations associated with your programme of study.

These Programme Regulations are designed and developed by UCL Institute of Education which is responsible for the academic direction of the programme. The regulations take account of any associated arrangements at UCL Institute of Education. Programme Regulations, together with the Programme Handbook, will provide the detailed rules and guidance for your programme of study.

In addition to Programme Regulations, you will have to abide by the General Regulations. These regulations apply to all students registered for a programme of study with the University of London and provide the rules governing registration and assessment on all programmes; they also indicate what you may expect on completion of your programme of study and how you may pursue a complaint, should that be necessary. Programme Regulations should be read in conjunction with the General Regulations.

The relevant General Regulations and the Programme Regulations relating to your registration with us are for the current year and not for the year in which you initially registered, unless that is the current year.

On all matters where the regulations are to be interpreted, or are silent, our decision will be final.

Further information about your programme of study is outlined in the Programme Specification which is available on the relevant Courses page of the website. The Programme Specification gives a broad overview of the structure and content of the programme as well as the learning outcomes students will achieve as they progress.

Terminology

The following language is specific to the Professional Graduate Certificate in Education: Teacher Development programme:

Module: Individual units of a programme are called modules. Each module is a self-contained, formally-structured learning experience with a coherent and explicit set of learning outcomes and assessment criteria.

Critical Friend: Someone you nominate to observe your teaching and give you written feedback.

To note:

Throughout the Regulations, ‘we’ ‘us’ and ‘our’ mean the University of London; ‘you’ and ‘your’ mean the student, or where applicable, all students.

If you have a query about any of the programme information provided, please contact us. You should use the ask a question button in the student portal https://my.londoninternational.ac.uk/.

Period of registration

2.2 The minimum and maximum period of registration to complete the programme are counted from your effective date of registration.

2.3 The minimum period of registration to complete the Professional Graduate Certificate in Education: Teacher Development is one year. The maximum period of registration allowed to complete the Postgraduate Certificate in Education: Teacher Development is five years. 3  Recognition of prior learning and credit transfer

To be read in conjunction with the General Regulations, Section 3.

Recognition of prior learning

3.1

Recognition of prior learning (RPL) is not applicable to this programme.

4  Assessment for the programme

Assessment methods

4.1

The programme is assessed by summative coursework at the end of each module.

4.2

In order to pass a particular module, you will be required to attempt the assessment for the module concerned, which will require active participation in the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE).

4.3

You are normally required to undertake the assessment for a module and participate in the Virtual Learning Environment in the same academic year in which you register for that module.

4.4

Coursework must be submitted by the deadlines given on the VLE.

Full details of the deadlines for submission of coursework are posted in the VLE. If there are exceptional circumstances affecting your coursework submission, you may want to bring mitigating circumstances to our attention.

Mitigating Circumstances

Mitigating circumstances are any serious circumstances beyond a student’s control which may have adversely affected their academic performance. For more information about mitigating circumstances, see Section 11 of the General Regulations and the Examinations section of our website.

4.5

You must bring any mitigating circumstances to our attention as soon as you become aware that your performance may be adversely affected by serious circumstances beyond your control. You should do this before the deadline date for coursework, dissertations, and no later than three weeks after the examination date.

For details on how to submit notifications and evidence of mitigating circumstances, see the assessment resources section of the student portal.
5 Number of attempts permitted at an examination

5.1 If you fail a module at the first attempt, you will be required to make a second attempt at the assessment.

5.2 The maximum number of attempts permitted at any assessment is two.

5.3 If you do not submit an assessed coursework by the deadline for submission, this will still count as an attempt and will be marked as ‘Fail’, unless there are mitigating circumstances for which an extension to the deadline has already been granted.

5.4 If you fail a module at the second attempt, your registration will cease. This is because you can no longer gain the required credits to complete the qualification.

6 Progression within the programme

6.1 The modules must be attempted in sequence. You must have completed study of module 1 before commencing study of module 2.

Specific details of session dates and coursework submission deadlines can be found in the VLE.

7 Scheme of award

7.1 In order to be considered for the award of the Professional Graduate Certificate in Education: Teacher Development, you must have attempted and passed the assessment for both modules.

7.2 The pass mark for each module is 40 per cent.
Appendix A – Structures

The module codes are appended to the module titles and these codes should be used when entering for an examination.

Professional Graduate Certificate in Education: Teacher Development

Two compulsory modules as follows:

- Module 1: Thinking about Learning [TD3001]
- Module 2: Learning in Teaching [TD3002]
Appendix B – Module outlines

Module 1: Thinking about Learning [TD3001]
This module builds on the professional development courses already completed at the current school or in previous practice by the Participant Teacher. The Participant Teachers are expected to bring to this module a learning journal of the activities they have completed. The module will use this learning journal as a starting point for Participant Teachers to identify their own personal professional development and the impact on practice during the programme. The taught element of this module supports Participant Teachers to consider their practice through a variety of activities and tasks required. It also encourages Participant teachers to reflect further on their learning, through offering reading material in the three themes. The readings will be incorporated into the online sessions.

The three units of this module consider the concept of ‘learners’ both through the lens of recipient and of teacher.

1. Observing learning. This theme encourages Participant Teachers to share observations, on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE), that they have made of teaching, to observe each other teaching, and to reflect on formal observations made of them by their Critical Friends.

2. Supporting learners. In this theme Participant Teachers will identify from their learning journals strategies they have developed to support learners in their setting.

3. Teachers as learners. This theme encourages Participant Teachers to consider continued professional development. Participant Teachers will consider the value of reflection and will reflect on their professional learning, sharing ways forward for their own professional development.

Assessment
This module is assessed through submission of three different elements: A Portfolio of Activity as a record of engagement within the module activities; Evidence of Professional Practice through at least six annotated and critically considered observations of teaching; and, a short essay assignment (2,000 words) on one aspect of learning developed through the module engagement.
Module 2: Learning in Teaching [TD3002]

This module will continue to explore learning and teaching through themes. There will be guided activities within three themes to support the continuing professional development of the Participant Teacher. The curriculum of this module focuses, through exploration and reflection of practice, on these themes in order to meet the aims and help Participant Teachers achieve the Learning Outcomes developing towards competency in the any local or national teaching standards:

1. The assessment challenge – for, not of learning: the exploration of formative assessment as a vital and important tool for the teacher is examined. Participant Teachers will develop their professional practice and experiment and examine different AfL (Assessment for Learning) practices through the use of demonstration lessons (using open access video material available on social network platforms such as “YouTube”, professional and academic websites such as “chriswatkins.net” and participant teachers’ own videoed practice), engagement in online discourse and consideration of a variety of successful practices so developing a repertoire of assessment tools to support learning and teaching in the classroom.

2. Supporting learning - SEN and differentiation: this theme will focus on the area of inclusion. The curriculum will enable the Participant Teacher to explore the challenges of including learners with a range of needs, recognising that through school many learners may have some special educational need addressing in order to succeed. The curriculum will unpack teaching and learning strategies to support learning and encourage reflection on managing learning in the classroom practice the Participant Teacher is exploring.

3. The reflective practitioner – attempting change in practice: The third theme continues to value the importance of teachers being agents for change. It will use the ongoing Professional Portfolio as a tool to support development, and engage in continuing dialogue about learning and teaching. The importance and value of extending the community of practitioners developed through the module will inform this theme and consider wider communities of practitioners including the research community for teacher education.

Assessment

This module is assessed through submission of three different elements: A Portfolio of Activity as a record of engagement within the module activities; Evidence of Professional Practice through at least six annotated and critically considered observations of teaching; and, an assignment of three short essays which explore the themes developed from the teaching of the module plus a short synopsis (4,000 words).
