Additional costs

In addition to Programme Fees payable to the University, you should budget for textbooks (this may well be in the region of £150 per year if you are taking four courses in one year) and tuition costs (if studying at a teaching institution).

You should budget for the fee charged by your local examination centre. Examination centre fees are not included within the fees set out above. This fee will vary from centre to centre and you should contact your proposed examination centre(s) for details of their fees to factor them in to the overall cost of completing the programme. Using this link, you can find contact details for all our examination centres. The University of London is only responsible for the examination centre fee charged at London centres. You will be charged £81 per sitting when using London examination centres.

Goods and Services Tax (GST)

The University is required to add Goods and Services Tax (GST) to certain fees paid by students resident in certain countries. Further information can be found on our web page.

All programme fees shown are net of any local VAT, Goods and Services Tax (GST) or any other sales tax payable by the student in their country of residence. Where the University is required to add VAT, GST or any other sales tax at the local statutory rate, this will be added to the fees shown during the payment process. For students residing in the UK, our fees are exempt from VAT.

When to pay

The application fee is payable when you make your application. The closing date for applications is 1 October. If your application is successful, you will receive an offer inviting you to register.

The module fee will be inclusive of module registration and your first attempt at the assessment for that module in the year in which you register.

If you do not attempt the assessment for a module in the same year that you registered for it, or if you need to make a second or further attempt, you will need to register for the module again and pay the module fee the next time you register for it. Please take this into account when you register for new modules; you are advised to register for a module only when you are confident that you will be able to attempt the assessment.

The closing date for initial registrations is 30 October.

Assessment entries are accepted from mid-December to the closing date of 1 February. Examinations take place in May or June each year.

A non-refundable fee may be payable if you wish to make an application for recognition of prior learning for accreditation on, or transfer to, the degree programme. You may make this application throughout the year.

A non-refundable late registration fee of £100 will be charged if payment is not received by the deadlines specified for initial or continuing registration.

Indicative total fee

This has been calculated assuming the programme is completed in minimum time (i.e 3 years) with no examination resits. From 2021-2022, the programme has phased into a new composite fee structure. This means that fees are paid on a modular basis, with each module fee inclusive of module registration and examination fee. The indicative total given above has been calculated with the move to a composite fee structure taken into account.

For 2021-2022, the composite fee for a module is £1,000.

How to pay

Please see the University of London website.
