Additional costs

In addition to fees payable to the University, you should budget for textbooks (this may well be in the region of £300 per year if you are taking four modules in one year) and the cost of any course or tuition you choose to take or (for the CertHE Common Law) are required to take.

You should budget for the fee charged by your local examination centre. Examination centre fees are not included within the fees set out above. This fee will vary from centre to centre and you should contact your proposed examination centre(s) for details of their fees to factor them in to the overall cost of completing the programme. You can find contact details for all our examination centres on this page. The University of London is only responsible for the examination centre fee charged at London centres. You will be charged £81 per sitting when using London examination centres.

You should also budget for tuition costs if studying at a recognised teaching centre.

Goods and Services Tax (GST)

The University is required to add Goods and Services Tax (GST) to certain fees paid by students resident in certain countries. Further information can be found on our web page.

All programme fees shown are net of any local VAT, Goods and Services Tax (GST) or any other sales tax payable by the student in their country of residence. Where the University is required to add VAT, GST or any other sales tax at the local statutory rate, this will be added to the fees shown during the payment process. For students residing in the UK, our fees are exempt from VAT.

When to pay

The application fee is payable when you make your application. The closing date for applications for the November intake is 1 October. For the May intake, it is 1 April. CertHE Common Law students and those who wish to receive institutional support for the LLB should contact the teaching centre, which may require you to make an earlier application. If your application is successful, you will receive an offer inviting you to register.

Please note that if you fail to complete your application by the deadline, there will be no extension of the deadline. Instead, you have the option to submit your application in time for the next application deadline.

If you fail to complete the registration process by the deadline, there will be no extension of the deadline. Instead, you have the option to register in time for the next registration deadline.

The initial registration fee is payable in order to be registered with the University as a University of London student. The closing dates for registration for the November intake is 1 November. For the May intake, it is 1 May.

The module fee is payable when you register for a module. If you register for a module but do not sit exams or you sit and fail exams in that academic year, you will need to register, and pay the module fee, in each subsequent year in which you intend to sit exams.

For each exam you wish to sit, you will have to pay an exam fee. The deadline for payment if you wish to sit exams in May/June is normally 1 February, and mid-September if you wish to sit exams in October. The exam fees also apply to students resitting exam papers.

A non-refundable application fee may be payable if you wish to have prior learning considered for accreditation on, or transfer to, the LLB. Such applications may be made throughout the year.

Fee increases
Programme Fees are subject to annual revision and typically may be increased by up to 5% per annum.

Generally, students whose fees are paid by sponsors will be expected to correspond directly with their sponsor regarding Programme Fees. The University can provide an invoice, if needed, upon request. Materials will not be despatched and VLE access will not be available until fees have been received.
